

BFTA Focusing Partnership Page

Welcome. If you want to find a Focusing partner then read on.

To get listed on the BFTA Partnership Page on the BFTA website you will need to have done a minimum of 2 days Focusing and listening training and fill in the application form below. Once I have received the signed form I will add your details to the site and send you a URL (a website address) to access the page. Please note this web page is not listed on the site, and is for the sole use of applicants. For the sake of privacy and to avoid misuse please do not pass this address onto anyone else or link it to your site.

Once you are on the webpage, you will see the listings for anyone who might be wanting a focusing partner. For ease of searching the page is divided into geographical reasons. Feel free to contact anyone on the list remembering that just because they are listed it does not mean they are wanting a Focusing partner right now.

If you want your listing changed or removed, or have any questions please contact me.
